PREFACE.

The names of authors and of their works are transcribed according to a definite system of transliteration, already initiated, in part, in the Catalogue of Sanskrit Books. The different modes of spelling of names, some antiquated, others quite incorrect or fanciful, which are found on English title-pages, have necessarily been rejected, their correct forms only being entered in the Catalogue.

In order to ensure every possible uniformity in the transcription of names, more particularly those of Hindu authors and of their works, in this and other Vernacular catalogues, it has been thought advisable to follow the general principles adopted in the Library of the British Museum. Accordingly, purely Sanskrit names are, as a rule, spelt as such, with the inherent, though unsounded, short vowel "a," and without reference to their pronunciation; as, for instance, Kṛishṇa Lāla for Kishan Lāl; Viṣṇu Datta for Bishan Datt; Vrajalāla for Brij Lāl. So, also, in the case of names of works; e.g., Rāmāyaṇa; Viṣṇu-purāṇa; Veda-prakāśa. When the form of name, as spelt in English on the title-page, or in its Hindustani transcription, differs considerably from the adopted method of transliteration, a cross-reference has been made to the correct form. On the other hand, names in part or wholly modifications of Sanskrit words are transliterated as they are pronounced; as, for instance, Pyāre Lāl; Sūraj Bhān; Ruldū Rām; Dhanpat Rā'e.

In the case of place-names the popular modern forms of spelling fixed by Dr. Hunter's Gazetteer have been adopted, instead of the old-fashioned forms often occurring in English title-pages.

Titles, such as Saiyid, Munshi, Pandit, and the like, have been generally omitted, but they have occasionally been made use of in the Index of Persons to differentiate one author from another bearing the same name. As far as possible, an author's residence, his takhalluṣ or poetical name, or his father's name, has been used for this purpose, rather than his title. The takhalluṣ is shown in parentheses after the personal name, a cross-reference being made in every case from it to the author's real name.

A work containing two or more alternative titles, one being usually a chronogrammatic title, is catalogued under that by which it is best known. Cross-references from the other titles are entered in the Index of Works.

In the case of translations, or commentaries, the name of the author of the original work translated, or commented on, is mentioned in the Catalogue, as far as it was possible to ascertain it, but, as a rule, has not been given in the Index of Persons. A Hindustani translation, or commentary, if accompanied by the text of the original work, is, with one or two exceptions, not included in this Catalogue, but must be looked for in the catalogue of the language of the original text. Dictionaries and grammars, written in English for English readers, are also not entered in the present Catalogue.
